PREFACE

The Manuscript of DESCENDANTS OF ISAAC BRADLEY was prepared by the late LEONARD ABRAM BRADLEY in 1896-1898, as evidenced by the several dates found thereon, relating to his visits to East Haven, the final one being on January 30th, 1897, when he added his initials to the last remark on page 48. The last recorded date is that of January 28th, 1898, upon the death of Mrs. Wm. I. Townsend.

This was his second MS on the ISAAC BRADLEY branch. The first, still extant, contains many collateral groups wholly or partly eliminated from the second.

Previous to that special study, he had, in common with other New Haven genealogists, attempted to outline the history of all the BRADLEYS in America, but all found the task of such magnitude that it could not be accomplished.

When Mr. LEONARD ABRAM BRADLEY passed away, his brother Dr. WILLIAM LOCKWOOD BRADLEY examined his papers and carefully put them away where the BRADLEY heirs found them in 1915, at the death of the last survivor of the family, Miss SUSAN LOCKWOOD BRADLEY, to whose memory this work is dedicated, as a mark of our love and affection.

The only additions to the MS have been a few biographical remarks, besides the Index in two parts, considered necessary for easy reference.

MRS. CHARLES LLOYD STRONG AND HER NIECES.

. See Page 69

Reproduced from a daguerreotype taken in the summer of 1856.

Mrs. Strong was then contemplating a trip to the South of France, with her daughter, Mrs. Theodore Armstrong Bailey, and her husband, for the benefit of Mr. Bailey's health.

"Aunt Strong," as she was lovingly called, desired to have with her, during her absence, a picture of all her New Haven nieces, and hence this group.

First: MRS. WM. I. TOWNSEND, née ELIZABETH BRADLEY DURAND.

Second: MISS MARY BRADLEY SHIPMAN.

Third: MISS FRANCES HAWLEY — afterwards MRS. DAVID S. EGGLESTON.

Fourth: MRS. RUFUS KING MCHARG, née HARRIET HUNT SHIPMAN.

Fifth: MISS ELIZABETH CEBRA BRADLEY.

Sixth: MRS. JOHN C. HOLLISTER, née SARAH STRONG SHIPMAN.

Sitting:

First: MISS CHARLOTTE DURAND SHIPMAN.

Second: MRS. CHARLES LLOYD STRONG, née JENNETTE AMY BRADLEY.

Third: MISS SUSAN LOCKWOOD BRADLEY.

Fourth: MISS MARY LOUISE BRADLEY.

Miss Frances Hawley, now Mrs. David S. Egleston, and the only survivor of that group at present (January 25th, 1917), was doubly connected with the Bradley-Shipman families. With the Bradleys through the Lockwoods of Norwalk and with Mrs. McHarg through the Kings of Ridgefield.

She was on very intimate terms with them all and married in 1858 David S. Egleston, of New York, now deceased.

THE BRADLEY FAMILY

The HON. CHARLES W. BRADLEY, who resided in New Haven, Conn., at one time, and died there March 8th, 1865, was much interested in the study of surnames. In 1841 he prepared an essay on the surname of Bradley, in which he states, "that Bradley is among the earliest of" surnames, being "purely Anglo-Saxon, compounded of 'brad' = broad, wide, and 'ley' = a field, pasture." He gives a table, showing the various ways in which the name has been written, from 1193 to 1841.

He writes as follows: "The correct orthography is Bradley. The family seems to have been exceedingly fertile. Long ago the name was so numerous in the northwestern part of New Haven that that portion was called Bradley town. In the western part of the town of Litchfield, Conn., the name acquired such prominence at one time as to have given to it the title, Bradley-ville. The name is met with far and wide throughout New England, and generally in those towns and states which have been colonized by her sons. In Scotland it is not uncommon, and in the north of Ireland it greatly abounds." It is said that those who bear the name in Ireland are descendants of some who emigrated from England to Ireland, in the days of Cromwell.

One Nathan Bradley settled in Dorchester, Mass., at an early date. He married Mary, daughter of Richard Evans, May 17th, 1666. A "History of the Bradlee family with particular reference to the descendants of Nathan Bradley of Dorchester, Mass.," was prepared by Samuel Bradlee Doggett, and published in 1878. It shows that the name of Bradley, in that branch, was changed to Bradlee, prior to 1768, by one of the descendants, to avoid mistakes. Mr. Doggett mentions many places of the name of Bradley in England, and many persons of the name of Bradley who resided in England at various periods. One of these was "Thomas Bradley, Doctor of Divinity, and chaplain to King Charles the First, afterwards prebend in the Cathedral of York, and rector of Ackworth in County Ebor. He was 67 years 7 months old in August, 1665. His son, Savile, was Fellow of Magdalen College in Oxford; and another son, Thomas, a merchant in Virginia."

One Daniel Bradley came to Boston in the ship "Elizabeth" from London, having embarked April 8th, 1635, and taken the oath of allegiance, as appears by certificate from the parish of St. Alphage, Cripplegate. He was then twenty years of age. (See New England Gen. Reg. for 1860, p. 306.) He settled in Haverhill, Mass., where he married Mary Williams May 21st, 1662. He had the following children, viz.: Daniel; Joseph; Martha, b. in 1667; Mary, b. March 1st, 1670, d. March 14th, 1670; Mary, b. April 16th, 1671; Sarah, b. August 19th, 1673; Hannah, b. May 28th, 1677; Isaac, b. February 25th, 1680; Abraham, b. March 14th, 1684. The date of birth of two of the sons, Daniel and Joseph, is not given in the Haverhill town records, but the fact they were the oldest of the children appears from the Probate Records of Essex County, Mass. (Book 4, Old Series, pp. 243, 415. See also Index of Records of the Circuit Court of Essex Co., in the Probate Office.)

Daniel Bradley, the father, was killed by the Indians August 13th, 1689. Isaac, his son, was captured by the Indians September 4th, 1695, but escaped, and returned to Haverhill. Daniel Bradley, Jr., married January 5th, 1687, Hannah Dow, and had four daughters and one son. His daughters, Mary and Hannah, were killed by the Indians March 15th, 1697. Joseph Bradley (son of the first Daniel) married April 14th, 1691, Hannah Heath and had 4 daughters and 6 sons. Two of his children were killed by the Indians March 15th, 1697. February 8th, 1704, a party of six Indians attacked the house of Joseph Bradley. His wife, "who had a kettle of boiling soup over the fire, seized a ladle, filling it with the steaming liquid, discharged it on the "head of an Indian, killing him." She was taken captive and carried to Canada, and sold there. She was afterwards redeemed and returned to Haverhill. (See History of Haverhill, by B. L. Merrick, p. 107.)

Others of the descendants of the first Daniel Bradley of Haverhill were slain by the Indians. (See History of Haverhill by Merrick, also History of Haverhill by Chase.)

One John Bradley was a resident of Salem, Mass., at an early period. His will was proved in 1642. Mr. S. B. Doggett, in his History of the Dorchester Bradleys, states that this John Bradley married, moved to Dedham, then to Dorchester, where he had one child, Salathiel, born March 16th, 1642, and died at six weeks of age.

Richard Bradley resided in Boston in 1651. He married and had children. (See New Eng. Gen. Reg. for 1853, p. 339; and for 1855, pp. 172, 310.)

One William Bradley was residing in Dorchester October 19th, 1664. (New Eng. Gen. Reg., Vol. 5, p. 389.)

One Joshua Bradley was in Ipswich, Mass., March 18th, 1664. He married Judith Lumber or Lume of Rowley, Mass., May 26th, 1663. The records of the town of Rowley, Mass., show that Martha, daughter of Joshua Bradley, was born "29th of 12th month, 1663." (See Book of Ipswich Record of Deeds in the Registry of Deeds for Essex Co., Mass., folio 225; Essex Institute Hist. Col., Vol. 23, p. 135; Essex Institute Hist. Col., Vol. 4, p. 60.)

Peter Bradley resided in New London, Conn., in 1654, and married Elizabeth, daughter of Jonathan Brewster. He died in June, 1662. They had the following children, viz.: Elizabeth, b. March 16th, 1655; Peter, b. September 7th, 1658; and Lucretia, b. in 1660. Peter Bradley, Jr., married May 9th, 1678, Mary Christopher of New London, and died in August, 1687 leaving but one child, Christopher, b. July 11th, 1679.

Mary, the widow of Peter Bradley, Jr., married in 1693, Thomas Young of Southhold, L. I., and removed with her son, Christopher, to Southold. (See Miss Caulkin's History of New London, Conn., pp. 87, 266, 278.)

Another William Bradley settled in New Haven, Conn., prior to August, 1644. He took the oath of fidelity August 5th, 1644. He married Alice, daughter of Roger Prichard (of Springfield, Mass., and of Milford, Conn.) February 18th, 1645. According to tradition he emigrated from Bingley, in the West Riding of Yorkshire, England; was at one time an officer in the Parliamentary army and a friend of Cromwell. His mother died, probably, before 1634. On her death his father married, for his second wife, Elizabeth —, and had by her the following named children, to wit: Daniel, Joshua, Nathan, Ellen and Stephen. After the death of his father, say, about 1645, his stepmother (Elizabeth Bradley), with her four sons and one daughter, emigrated to New England, and came to New Haven, to reside near her stepson, William Bradley.

Mr. Zebul Bradley (born in Guilford in January, 1780; a great grandson of Nathan Bradley, half brother of the said William Bradley, and a resident of New Haven for many years), informed the writer that the said Nathan Bradley was seven years old when he left England; that when the company, with which Elizabeth Bradley and her children were associated, were passing through the streets of London, on the eve of their departure from England, Nathan became separated from the "company, and lost them. He sat down on the door steps of a house, and began to cry. A woman, hearing him, asked, "What is the matter?" He answered, "I have lost my mother." She asked, "Where were the company to put up at night?" He replied, "At the sign of the White Horse of the Cripplegate." She said, "I know where that is." Thereupon she told a boy to take Nathan to the Inn referred to. When he arrived there, he found his mother weeping, not expecting to see him again."

Another account of the emigration of this branch of the family (recorded in the family Bible of Cyrus Bradley of Guilford, Conn.) speaks of Nathan Bradley as six years old when he arrived from England.

Daniel Bradley (one of the brothers of Nathan Bradley) took the oath of fidelity the "7th of the 2nd month, 1657." He died in May, 1658, intestate and unmarried, whereupon at a Court, held November 2nd, 1658, William Bradley and John Allen appeared respecting their brother Daniel Bradley's estate. At a Court, held May 30th, 1660, the estate of Daniel Bradley was ordered to be divided between his mother (Elizabeth) and his brothers, Joshua, Nathan, Stephen and William, and his sister, Ellen (wife of John Allen), "William, being a brother by the father's side," to receive only half a share.

The said Joshua Bradley is noted on the New Haven records as having attained the age of puberty in 1652-3. He married and had a son, named Joshua, born December 31st, 1665. Nothing further has been discovered as to this branch of the family.

Elizabeth Bradley (the mother of Joshua, Nathan and Stephen Bradley) married John Parmely or Parmelee, of New Haven, November 8th, 1653. He died leaving a will, dated November 8th, 1659 (recorded in the New Haven Probate Records in Book 1, p. 86), in which he devises to his wife, Elizabeth Parmely, his house, lot and all his estate during her natural life, and after her death he gives one-half to his son, John Parmely of Guilford, one-quarter to his grandchild, Nathaniel Parmely, and one-quarter to his wife to dispose of to her son, Stephen. The said Elizabeth Parmely (widow) married John Evatts or Evarts, of Guilford, May 27th, 1668, who died May 10th, 1669.

Elizabeth Evatts of Guilford made a deed to Roger Alling of New Haven, dated May 30th, 1671 (recorded in the New Haven Land Records in Book 1, p. —), reciting the devise to her in the will of John Parmelee, late of New Haven, deceased, of the testator's dwelling house and lot in New Haven, and conveys to Alling all her right, title, etc., in said house and lot. Following on the record is the following deed: "I Steven Bradly of Guilford, with the consent of my mother Evats, in consideration" * * * "Do by these presents assign," etc., "to William Stone" * * * "all the right that my mother hath given to me according to my father Parmelee's will, deceased, in New Haven." Dated —. Signed by "Elizabeth Evat," "Stephen Bradly." Elizabeth Evatts died in January, 1683. The nuncupative will of Elizabeth Evatts, late of Guilford, was proved in the New Haven Probate Court June 13th, 1683 (Book 1, p. 94.)

Her sons, Nathan and Stephen, removed from New Haven to Guilford, probably, prior to December 2nd, 1658. According to the Guilford records (Vol. 1, p. 172), at a Court, held December 2nd, 1658, "Nathan Bradley and Stephen Bradley, aged the one about twenty years and the other about sixteen years," testified in a suit.

There is nothing on record to show the age of William Bradley at the time of his arrival in New Haven, but it is probable that at the time of the arrival of his half brothers and sister, in 1645, Daniel Bradley was ten years old, Joshua was eight, Nathan was seven, Ellen was five, and Stephen was three years old.

It should be mentioned here that William Bradley owned land on what is now Grove Street at the westerly corner of Mill Lane, and conveyed a home lot here to his son, Benjamin, by deed dated March 30th, 1683, recorded in the New Haven Land Records in Book 1, p. 138, April 6th, 1683. As to where he resided at the first, I have not determined, but he removed in 1649, according to some authorities, to the East farms, afterwards in the town of North Haven. These farms were allotted to David Atwater, Nathaniel Turner, William Potter, Richard Mansfield, Francis Brewster and Governor Eaton. The land of Mr. Brewster passed into the possession of William Bradley. (See "History of the Colony of New Haven," by Edward E. Atwater, p. 213.)

After Mr. Bradley's removal to the East Farms, he continued to come in to the services of the First Church on the Sabbath. His children were baptized in that church.

William Bradley was one of the "Townsmen or Selectmen of the Town of New Haven" in 1656, 1657, 1658, 1662, 1669, 1673, 1674, 1675, 1676, 1677, 1678, 1679 and 1680. He was also one of the Deputies to the Connecticut General Assembly, from New Haven, in May 1675, 1676, 1678, 1679, 1680, 1683. (See "History of the City of New Haven," by Edward E. Atwater, pp. 438. 441.)

He died prior to May 29th, 1692, leaving a will dated June 22nd, 1683, recorded in the New Haven Probate Records in Book 2, p. 110, in which he mentions his sons, Joseph, Abraham, Benjamin, Nathaniel, also his daughters, Munson, Todd and Brocket, also his wife, but not by name. The inventory of his estate was made May 29th, 1692.

His half sister, Ellen Bradley, married John Allen, of New Haven, October 14th, 1652. The will of John Allen describes him as of New Haven. It is dated May 6th, 1689, and was recorded in the New Haven Probate Records in Book 2, p. 99, March 26th, 1691. John Allen's wife, Ellen, having died, he married Susannah Coe, January 11th, 1671-72. His second wife died April 3rd, 1746, aged 93. He died probably in 1691. His children by his first wife (Ellen) were: 1, Elizabeth, b. September 11th, 1653; d. July 3rd, 1701. (She m. Sergeant John Hobson or Hopson of Guilford, being his third wife. She had one child, Samuel, b. January 10th, 1683-4, who m. Mary Fowler January 20th, 1710, and had children.) 2, A child b. August 2nd, 1655; d. August 23rd, 1655. 3, Lydia, b. December 26th, 1656; m. one Wilcocks and had two children, Hannah and Lydia. 4, Hannah, b. July 26th, 1659;

m. one Scranton. 5, Mary, b. February 25th, 1661-2; she m. Bartholomew Goodrich. 6, John, b. December 13th, 1663; d. March 25th, 1717; he m. Abigail Granniss March 20th, 1688-9, and had issue, Abigail and Mary. 7, Sarah, b. November 25th, 1666, who m. Samuel (David) Atwater of New Haven July 7th, 1691; he was b. September 17th, 1664; d. September 17th, 1742. (See Atwater Register for their descendants.) 8, Samuel, b. March 24th, 1669-70.

Nathan Bradley and Stephen Bradley (two of the half brothers of William Bradley of New Haven) married. We shall see in another place set forth the history of some of the descendants of William Bradley, and of some of the descendants of Nathan Bradley and Stephen Bradley.

The Hon. Charles W. Bradley, in his essay on the surname of Bradley, states that the heraldic arms of the family of William Bradley are described as: "Entire, field argent; Chevron Sable"; the crest, "an open helmet"; the motto being, "Pascuum latum et nullum gratiae." The truth of this statement is confirmed by tradition, handed down in different branches of the Bradley family of New Haven and Guilford.

We proceed now to speak of other branches of the Bradley family.

Francis Bradley was a resident of Branford, Conn., at an early day. He acquired land there on the 1st day of May, 1648. In his youth he was articed, as has been suggested, to Governor Theophilus Eaton, according to the custom of the times, and was a member of his family. His term of service, with Governor Eaton expired in 1650. He must have resided in Branford till February 16th, 1660, for his name appears in a list, of that date, of persons entitled to draw for a division of land (Vol. 1 of Branford Town Records, p. 408.) He removed soon after, in 1660, to Fairfield, Conn., where he married Ruth Barlow, a daughter of John Barlow. He was made a freeman from Fairfield in October, 1664. He had four sons and three daughters.

Justice Joseph P. Bradley, of the Supreme Court of the United States, was very much interested in the study of the history of the various branches of the Bradley family, and devoted moments of leisure to the subject. He prepared an article on the history of Francis Bradley (from whom he was descended) and of some of his descendants for the "History of Fairfield, Conn., by Mrs. Elizabeth H. Schenck," of which Volume 1st was published in 1889. He had some correspondence with me upon the relationship between the said Francis Bradley and William Bradley of New Haven. He was of the opinion that Francis Bradley and his brother, John Bradley (who remained behind in London, and died there without issue, in March, 1697), were sons of one Francis Bradley, Jr., of Coventry, England (who was born in 1595), who had an uncle in Coventry named William Bradley, "conjectured to have been the father of William Bradley, who came to this country and settled at New Haven." Justice Bradley was of the opinion that the arms of the Bradley family, of Coventry, were those of his ancestors, and of the ancestors of the New Haven and Guilford Bradleys.

"Family Notes Respecting the Bradley Family of Fairfield," written by Joseph P. Bradley, edited and published by his son, Charles Bradley of Newark, N. J., in 1894, set out fully the reasons for Justice Bradley's opinion. On page 12 he says: "In one of the Bradley families at Greenfield (a branch of Francis Bradley's descendants) is a coat of arms, in which the Bradley and Wakeman escutcheons are combined. The Bradley is a chevron sable on a field argent (i. e., a black chevron on a white field or ground) ; with the bust of a helmed knight for a crest. The field is unoccupied—except as crossed by the chevron."

In Note A, page 61, of said Family Notes, reference is again made to the Bradley arms, and to a letter, written by me to Justice Bradley, July 8th, 1887, mentioning what Hon. William C. Bradley of Westminster, Vt., stated in a letter to me (dated November 24th, 1859), as follows: "When I studied law at the close of the last century with Judge Simeon Strong of Amherst, Mass., I was recommended to board with Dr. Coleman, a near neighbor, who received me very kindly. On his table at dinner was a large silver can, having a coat of arms engraved upon it, and when I inquired whence it came, he told me it was given to his first wife, Sally Beecher, daughter of Eliphalet Beecher and Sarah Bradley, old Stephen Bradley's youngest daughter, and my great aunt." Afterwards, when in New York, as William C. Bradley adds, I caused a carnation seal to be cut, showing the coat of arms, "the same as on the old silver can." William C. Bradley sealed his letter with the seal, giving an impression of the coat of arms on the red sealing wax. The coat of arms is: "Field Gules (or red) with chevron argent, between three boars' heads, couped, or. Crest, a boar's head, couped, or. Motto, 'Liber ac Sapiens Esto.'"

The Hon. William C. Bradley was a very careful man. He evidently regarded the coat of arms, shown on the can, as belonging to his family. Justice Bradley, in his "Family Notes" (page 61), states that George H. M. Bradley, of Burlington, Vt., informed him that the silver can, or tankard, referred to by Hon. William C. Bradley, was still in existence, in the possession of Mr. Philip Livingston.

We have set forth the various statements respecting the coat of arms of the Bradley family of Fairfield, New Haven and Guilford that all that is known upon the subject may be before the reader.

Hon. Charles W. Bradley, of New Haven, was also a very careful man. The tradition of the various branches of the Guilford family confirm his view of the matter. Further, Mr. John C. Bradley, of Hoosick Falls, New York, who has given some time to the study of the history of the Bradley family, confirms the view taken by Hon. Charles W. Bradley.

Leaving the history of the Fairfield, New Haven and Guilford families, we draw attention now to the progenitor of another branch of the family. Isaac Bradley was the father of the East Haven (Conn.) branch of the Bradley family. His name appears first on the records of Branford, Conn. (Vol. 1, present page 319), as one of the signers of an agreement, dated January 20th, 1667, for the settlement of a minister. It does not appear from the records when he came to New England. From his age at the time of his death, he was probably born in 1650, and must have been seventeen years old at the date of the said agreement. An affidavit made by him December 1st, 1685, respecting a statement by one Edmund Tooley before his death, was recorded in the New Haven Land Records in Volume 1, page 242, March 22nd, 1685-6, which begins in this way: "The testimony of Isaac Bradley aged 35 years or thereabouts saith," etc.

It is a tradition, in a branch of his family, that he came from London to Boston, and thence to Connecticut. The fact that he came to the neighborhood in which William Bradley resided, also the similarity of names prevailing in the lines of their families, implies they were related. When the writer was in Haverhill, Mass., some years ago, he called upon one of the descendants of Daniel Bradley (the first of the name in Haverhill) and was recognized at once as a Bradley from the features of the face. There is a great similarity of names in the lines of the Haverhill and East Haven families.

Captain Charles H. Townshend, of New Haven, Conn., informed the writer that he examined on the 21st of April, 1886, the records of the church (of which Rev. A. F. Curtis, A.M., was the rector) at White Notley, Essex County, England, and found a record of the marriage, on the 24th of June, 1624, of Isaac Bradlee and Elizabeth Danish (or Darrish). I have not the means of determining whether this Isaac Bradlee was related to the father of the Bradleys of East Haven, Conn.

At a town meeting held in Branford October 29th, 1674, "the town did give and grant unto Isaac Bradley, sojourner at New Haven, a parcel of upland, containing two acres, where he shall find it most convenient for him, provided it be not prejudicial to any highway; or to any particular man; provided also he build upon it within two years, or else to return it to the town again."

At another town meeting, held December 4th, 1674, "the town did give and grant unto Isaac Bradley, sojourner at New Haven, one parcel of upland, lying upon Cannow Brook plain, being three acres, more or less," giving the bounds.

The town did give two extensions of time for the erection of a house on said land, the last extension being for three months—from February 13th, 1679. Isaac Bradley erected the house, and finally sold and conveyed it, and the land mentioned, to Christopher Tod by deed dated March 10th, 1682-3 (Vol. 2 of Branford Land Records, page 11). He sold out all his other interests in Branford and removed to East Haven in 1683.

At a meeting of the East Haven Village proprietors, held October 14th, 1683, John Potter propounded to the "Village to give unto Isaac Bradley a piece of land, lying between Stony River and Joseph Russell's home lot, and a lot of land up the river, as near as may be. The Village thereupon do grant to sd Bradley the sd land, provided he build a tenantable house upon it, otherwise to return it to the Village again. Mathew Moulthrop and John Potter chosen by the Village to set out sd pieces and to provide the" commodity "to the highway."

John Potter and Mathew Moulthrop subsequently reported as to the land, "that they do not judge it will be any damage to the Village to grant it to" Isaac Bradley. The Village thereupon confirmed their previous action by appointing Mathew Moulthrop and John Potter to lay out to Isaac Bradley "what may be conveniently spared by Joseph Russell's lot, and about four acres up the river, upon the condition formerly mentioned"

"January 22nd, 1683, Isaack Bradley makes record of his land formerly granted to him by ye Village and laid out to him by Mathew Moulthrop and John Potter by their order, as followeth. First, Isaack Bradley's home lot is bounded on ye west by Joseph Russel's home lot, on the south by the Highway, and on the east and north by Stony River, and is by their estimation one acre and half be it more or less." "2dly, The other lot by ye Village given to Isaack Bradley lying on the said river and laid out by the same men, by the Village their order, lyes four acres, be it more or less, is bounded by a walnut stake on ye west, with a walnut tree on ye 3 corners, moreover the line on ye west side is 20 rods in length, the line on south side 20 rods, the line on the east side 20 rods, the line on the north side 32 rods long."

The record of the grant of the Joseph Russell home lot, as it appears in the record of the Village Proprietors proceedings, is not clear, but a transcript, of what is called an original, was recorded in the New Haven Land Records in Volume 1, page 226, March 26th, 1687, and reads as follows: "The Village did give and grant to Joseph Russell in 1681 half an acre of land lying, being & situate upon Stony River, bounded with the river on ye north, & with a highway on ye west, & with ye comon on ye south, and with Isaac Bradley's lot on ye east. Laid out by John Austin & Mathew Moulthrop."

As Isaac Bradley's home lot was not granted till 1683, it is evident Isaac Bradley's name was inserted in the above transcript in 1687.

Joseph Russell conveyed the lot last above described to John Potter, by deed dated January 18th, 1687, recorded in the New Haven Land Records in Volume 1, page 373, describing it somewhat differently, though substantially in the same way. John Potter thereupon granted the same lot to Isaac Bradley by deed dated January 18th, 1687, recorded in the New Haven Land Records in Volume 1, page 373, adding to the description, above given, these words, "the sd half acre of land with a house thereon together with ye buildings, privileges and boundaries as above expressed.”

The highway referred to as being on the west side of the Joseph Russell home lot must have been closed. The Isaac Bradley home lot (as increased by the addition of the half acre of land contained in the Russell lot) contained two acres of land. It contains this by estimation now, and is to be described now as bounded on the south by the highway, leading from East Haven centre to Branford, on the north and east by Stony River, and on the west by land now owned by James D. Ashbe, but in 1872 owned by John Russell. The Isaac Bradley home lot is now owned by the estate of Jared Bradley, a descendant of Isaac Bradley. The house erected by Isaac Bradley, on said lot, is still standing.

1. ISAAC BRADLEY, whose name appears on the records of the town of Branford, Conn., as early as January 20th, 1667, and who removed to East Haven, Conn., in 1683, where he died January 12th, 1712-13, æ 62 years, married Elizabeth —, who died January 3rd, 1712-13, æ 56 years. From an affidavit made by him December 1st, 1685, in which he is spoken of as "aged 35 years or thereabouts" (recorded in the New Haven Land Records in Vol. 1, p. 242), it appears that he was born in 1650. Letters of Administration on the estate of Isaac Bradley (the father) granted by the New Haven Probate Court February 3rd, 1712-13, to his two eldest sons, William and Isaac (Vol. 4 of Probate Records, p. 119.) Sources of information as to parents and children, Dodd's East Haven Register, New Haven Probate Records and Records of Births, also the East Haven Village Records. Probate Records give the names of the children. Division of the father's estate (in Vol. 4 of Probate Records, pp. 417, 240) shows two shares were set to William, eldest son, the "Joiner's tools" being divided equally between him and Samuel; a right in the home lot being set to William, Samuel and Daniel. All of the children survived their father.

Administration on the estate of Capt. Zebulon Bradley, late of New Haven, deceased, granted by the New Haven Probate Court in March, 1760, to Elizabeth Bradley, widow (Vol. 9 of Records, p. 308.) Inventory of his estate exhibited at a Court in April, 1760. Estate valued at £1835.7.8½ (Vol. 9 of Records, p. 322, etc.). It included "Dwelling house and shop by it," also "house lot one acre," "house and one-quarter acre near the wharf of" east side of the harbour, also a "right in said wharf," and "a sloop of 43 tons" (sloop valued at £180). Division of said estate recorded in May, 1761 (Vol. 9 of Records, p. 523). The part set to Abraham Bradley (eldest son) embraced the "house and one quarter acre of land, near the wharf" aforesaid, also "a right in the said wharf."

It seems that the proprietors of the common and undivided lands in East Haven, at a meeting held January 22nd, 1739-40, granted to John Woodward, Thomas Alcock, Joseph Tuttle, Samuel Forbes and Noah Tuttle "a piece of flats eight rods wide," beginning at the end of a stone fence, "then" of said John Woodward on the east shore of New Haven harbour, to extend westward to the channel. The interest of the owners of the flatts were changed by transfers until July, 1752, when those who were the owners made an agreement with Zebulon Bradley, Thomas Robinson, Amos Morris and Joseph Bishop, whereby certain interests in the flatts were conveyed to the four persons last named, and provision was made for the erection of a wharf on the flatts. It was declared that the interests of the then owners were as follows: Joseph Tuttle, £100; Rosewell Woodward, £100; Samuel Forbes, £100; John Woodward, £50; Jeremiah Osborn, £50; Timothy Tuttle, £50; Zebulon Bradley, £100; Thomas Robinson, £50; Amos Morris, £50, and Joseph Bishop, £50, it being agreed that these persons should hold title in these proportions always, reckoning £50 for one right and £100 for two rights, no right to be less than £50. See deed dated July 11th, 1752, recorded in New Haven Land Records, in Vol. 16, p. 437, November 24th, 1752.

Joseph Tuttle conveyed to Zebulon Bradley all the right, title and interest which Tuttle had in the wharf, which was described as "ten rods in length and twenty feet in width, situate on the east side of New Haven harbour, near the house where Jehial Osborn" dwelt November 16th, 1753, embracing in the conveyance Mr. Tuttle's right and title in the flatts, reserving the privileges in the wharf; reserved, in the original grant, "to the inhabitants of the Society of East Haven." See deed dated November 16th, 1753, recorded in the New Haven Land Records in Vol. 18, p. 300, November 17th, 1753.

The East Haven Village Records show the grant made at a Proprietors' meeting held January 22nd, 1739-40, and that all persons of the Society shall always have liberty to fasten their boats, scows and cannoes to the wharf, without any cost.

The wharf was the first one just south of Tomlinson's Bridge on the East Haven shore.

Capt. Zebulon Bradley acquired title by deed from his father (Samuel Bradley), dated October 10th, 1750, to a parcel of land, "being one acre, bounded on the west and south by highways, on the north and east by land of Daniel Moltrop," "with the dwelling house, shop and all the appurtenances." Deed recorded in the New Haven Land Records in Vol. 16, p. 77, December 27th, 1751. This parcel of land is that now divided into three smaller lots, which together are to be described as bounded on the west by a highway or the Green (formerly the Market Place), on the south by a highway, on the north and east by land at one time of Daniel Moltrop, afterwards of Amos Thompson. On the division of the estate of Capt. Zebulon Bradley in May, 1761, one-half part of the house (the north end) with half of the cellar, and shop (adjoining) and half of the home lot were set to Elizabeth Bradley (the widow), while the other half of the house (the south end), with half of the cellar, and shop, and the south end of the home lot, were set to Jared Bradley (one of the sons).

Jared Bradley conveyed his half part of the house and lot to Jonathan Goodsill by deed dated November 15th, 1793, recorded in the East Haven Land Records in Book 2, p. 85, April 20th, 1795. In the lifetime of the widow of Capt. Zebulon Bradley, his children, to wit, Abraham Bradley, Josiah Bradley, Elijah Bradley, Andrew Davidson and Elizabeth Davidson, his wife, and Jared Bradley conveyed to Jonathan Goodsill the interest in the home lot which had been set to Elizabeth Bradley, the mother of the grantors, by deed dated July 3rd, 1797, recorded in the East Haven Land Records in Book 2, p. 224, November 17th, 1797.

Jonathan Goodsell conveyed to Abraham Chidsey, the elder, the same home lot of Capt. Z. Bradley, containing one acre, by deed dated September 17th, 1804, recorded in the East Haven Land Records in Book 3, p. 286, September 17th, 1804. Jacob Chidsey and Hannah Chidsey, Administrators on the estate of Abraham Chidsey, late deceased, by order of the Probate Court for New Haven, conveyed to Elijah G. Plumb, of Litchfield, Conn., the same home lot, "with an old dwelling house thereon standing," by deed dated April 23rd, 1812, recorded in the East Haven Land Records in Book 5, p. 6, April 23rd, 1812.

We are informed by Mr. Leverett S. Bagley, of East Haven, that Rev. Mr. Plumb kept a school in the old dwelling house.

Mr. Plumb, then of East Haven, conveyed the same home lot and house to John Heminway by deed dated December 31st, 1818, recorded in the East Haven Land Records in Book 6, p. 22, December 31st, 1818. John Heminway conveyed the same lot and house to Horace Chidsey by deed dated January 26th, 1819, recorded in the East Haven Land Records in Book 5, p. 404, January 28th, 1819. Horace Chidsey died April 26th, 1854, aged 58. His estate passed by will to his widow, Sarah A. Chidsey.

Sarah A. Chidsey conveyed to William H. Chidsey a lot of land, "with the dwelling house and other buildings thereon standing, containing one half acre and bounded" easterly by land of Orrin Thompson and O. B. Thompson, "southerly by highway, westerly by highway and northerly by 'grantor's' own land, by deed dated May 31st, 1877, recorded in East Haven Land Records in Book 23, p. 611, January 29th, 1886. The remaining half acre of the original lot was afterwards divided into two smaller lots of one-quarter of an acre each. The lot adjoining Wm. H. Chidsey's lot, on the north, was conveyed to Horace L. Chidsey by deed dated December 28th, 1889, recorded in the East Haven Land Records in Book 25, p. 520, February 27th, 1890; while the most northerly quarter acre lot was conveyed to Wm. S. Chidsey by deed dated December 28th, 1889, recorded in the East Haven Land Records in Book 25, p. 519, February 19th, 1890.

The shop used by Capt. Zebulon Bradley was removed from his home lot many years ago. It is interesting to notice the items of the inventory of his estate. The inventory was presented to the New Haven Probate Court in April, 1760. Some of the items are:

Captain Zebulon Bradley was captain of a sloop, sailing between East Haven and New York, and died in New York City January 13th, 1760. He carried on a very good business for those days.

His sons, Asa, Abijah, Zebulon and Elijah were active in the Revolution against the enemies of the country. Asa, Abijah and Elijah were taken prisoners and placed on board the prison ship near New York City; Asa and Abijah dying on this ship October 21st, 1779. Elijah finally escaped and returned to East Haven. Zebulon (the son) was killed on board a privateer in an engagement with the enemy in October, 1779. For these facts respecting the said four sons, see Mss. History of East Haven, Conn., by Rev. Wm. Haven, in the possession of the New Haven Historical Society; also "The East Haven Register," by Stephen Dodd, pp. 75, 176.

Elijah Bradley's name appears in the list of Revolutionary pensioners for 1840. (See Record of Connecticut in the Revolution, p. 660.)

We will now note the line of descent of Elizabeth, the wife of Capt. Zebulon Bradley, from David Yale and Anne, his wife. Their children were David, Thomas and Ann. On the death of the elder David Yale, his widow, Anne Yale, married Mr. Theophilus Eaton, of London. When Mr. Eaton emigrated to New England, his step-sons, David and Thomas Yale, came with him. They settled in New Haven. David Yale removed to Boston after March, 1641. David Yale and Ursula, his wife, had four children born to them in Boston, namely, David, Elihu, Theophilus and Thomas. David Yale, with his wife and four children, soon returned to England, leaving behind, in New Haven, Thomas Yale, the brother of David Yale 2nd. Prof. F. B. Dexter has written an interesting paper about Elihu Yale, the founder of Yale College. (See New Haven Historical Society Papers, Vol. 3, p. 227.)

Thomas Yale, the brother of Elihu Yale, mentions in his will (dated September 29th, 1697) his mother, Mrs. Ursula Yale, his brother, Elihu Yale, and his "uncle Thomas Yale in New England." (See New England Historical and Genealogical Register, Vol. 38, p. 315.)

Thomas Yale, the uncle of Elihu Yale, purchased land in North Haven and settled there. He married, in 1645, Mary, daughter of Capt. Nathaniel Turner, of New Haven. In January, 1646, Captain Turner sailed in a ship, chartered by a company formed to establish direct trade with London. The ship was never heard of. Captain Turner was prominent in the affairs of New Haven Colony. (See Atwater's History of the Colony, pp. 207-209, 537-541.)

Hannah Yale, one of the children of Thomas Yale and Mary Turner, his wife, was born July 6th, 1662, and married, in 1689, Enos Talmage. Their daughter, Sarah Talmage (b. October 2nd, 1684) married, November 11th, 1713, Abraham Heminway (son of Samuel Heminway, of East Haven, and Sarah (dau. of John) Cooper, his wife). Abraham Heminway (b. December 3rd, 1677) and Sarah Talmage, his wife, had, besides other children, Elizabeth (b. October 3rd, 1716), who married, July 10th, 1740, Capt. Zebulon Bradley of East Haven, Conn.

John Heminway, born May 29th, 1675 (a son of Samuel Heminway and Sarah (John) Cooper, his wife), married, in 1703, Mary, dau. of John Morris, of East Haven. John Morris was a son of Thomas Morris, who signed the Plantation Covenant at New Haven in 1639. John Morris married, August 12th, 1669, for his 3rd wife, Hannah (dau. of Deputy Governor James Bishop), and their daughter, Mary (b. September 9th, 1673) married John Heminway. James Bishop was one of the eminent men in the colony of New Haven at the time of its union with Connecticut. From 1683 until his death in 1691 he held the office of Lieutenant-Governor of the colony. (See New Haven Historical Society Papers, Vol. 3, p. 492.) In his will, dated May 11th, 1691, James Bishop gives and bequeaths unto his daughter, Hannah Morris, one-fourth part of his estate. (See Vol. 2 of New Haven Probate Records, p. 103.)

John Heminway and Mary (John) Morris had a son, John Heminway, born October 3rd, 1715, who married Mary (dau. of John and Mercy (Thompson) Tuttle November 9th, 1738. The latter had a daughter, Amy Heminway, born May 25th, 1743, who married Abraham Bradley January 23rd, 1760.

Capt. Abraham Bradley was a merchant in New Haven, having come from East Haven when young. He was in the Long Wharf previous to 1806 and owned two vessels which ran regularly to Charleston, S. C., and to New York City. In his early days he made stated trips to New York and owned a shop at the corner of Chapel and State Streets. Captain Bradley and his wife lived there at the time of the British invasion, and what happened to them has been related in the N. H. "Journal and Courier" of March 11th, 1879.

In Rev. Mr. Haven's History of East Haven it is said of Captain Bradley: "He was a successful merchant, held in general esteem for his probity and integrity, and at the time of his death was regarded as one of the eminent and solid men of the city."—(J. M. A., 1915.)

Abraham Bradley was associated with his father as a local merchant previous to 1806, the firm being A. Bradley & Son. Afterwards and up to 1818 he was in partnership with his brother Jared, the firm being A. & J. Bradley, when he left his brother Jared and became interested in real estate and then again returned to his former business with Mr. Timothy Bishop as Bradley & Bishop.

Abraham Bradley built in 1807 the Colonial Mansion on State Street, which was occupied by his family up to his death, and afterwards by his son's family.

Mrs. J. A. Strong, with her daughter and her daughter's
urday, November 1st, 1856, which shortly after came in collision with another vessel. The steamer was kept afloat for some time, but the passengers were obliged to quit the steamer (about four in the afternoon of Monday, November 3rd, 1856) for the boats. Monday night the boats remained around the steamer. Finally the boat, containing Mr. Strong, her daughter and her daughter's husband, was separated from the other boats, and lost to the view of a passenger (who survived to report the meeting) in a fog, in the afternoon of Tuesday, No-

(Dates supplied by J. M. A., 1915.)

Leonard Bradley was in the dry goods business in New York and New Haven. In 1818 he established himself in the brick store which stood upon the ground now occupied by the Yale National Bank, removing to New York in 1832, where he remained till 1843, when he relinquished business and took up his residence in New Haven. He was a successful and enterprising merchant of strict integrity.

Charlotte Selleck Lockwood, his wife, was a daughter of William Lockwood of Norwalk. (See Lockwood Family, p. 476.)

Leonard Abraham Bradley or L. Abram Bradley, as he was generally called, was a graduate of Yale 1855. He first inclined to study for the ministry, but he gave it up and was a graduate of Yale Law School '55-56. Was admitted to the Bar Association of N. Y., 1858, and to the Connecticut Bar, 1870. From 1857 he resided in N. Y. and exercised his profession there till 1888, when he removed to New Haven and opened his law office there. See illustration.

William Lockwood Bradley was a graduate of Yale, 1860, and of its Medical School, 1864. After travelling in Europe he became demonstrator in the Medical School, 1865-77. He resided permanently in New Haven and there exercised his profession successfully.

The remains of Jared Bradley (the father) and of his wife were interred in the East Haven Cemetery.

The Saltonstall Farm (of which Jared Bradley died seized) was owned at one time by Wm. Rosewell, of Branford, who died in 1694; the farm passing to his only child, Elizabeth Rosewell, who married Rev. Gurdon Saltonstall, of New London, Conn., who, on the death of Governor Winthrop, was appointed Governor of Connecticut, taking the oath of office on the 1st of January, 1708; being afterwards annually elected Governor until his death. Governor Saltonstall "had three wives: first, Jerusha, dau. of James Richards, of Hartford, who d. in Boston July 25th, 1697; second, Elizabeth Rosewell, who d. in New London September 12th, 1710; third, Mary, dau. of Wm. Whittingham (and widow of Wm. Clarke, of Boston), who survived him and d. in Boston January 23rd, 1730."

By his second wife, Elizabeth, he had issue: Rosewell, b. January 19th, 1701-02, Harvard 1720, who d. in October, 1738; Katharine, b. June 19th, 1704; Nathaniel, b. July 1st, 1707; Gurdon, b. December 22nd, 1708, Yale 1725; Richard, b. September 1st, 1710; d. September 12th, 1710.

Rosewell Saltonstall married Mary, dau. of John Haynes, of Hartford (widow of Elisha Lord). "He fixed his residence in Branford, Conn., the home of his maternal ancestors. He became a member of the Branford Church in October, 1735, and was highly esteemed, being a man of irreproachable Christian character." He went, in September, 1738, to New London, to visit his brother, Gurdon (who was residing in his father's house), and died there October 1st, 1738. His remains were interred in the family vault, in the ancient burial ground at New London. He had one son, Rosewell Saltonstall (who resided on the Saltonstall farm in Branford), and four daughters, Mary, Sarah, Elizabeth and Katherine. Mary, the eldest, married Colonel Whiting, of New Haven, Conn.; Sarah married Jonathan Fitch, of New Haven; Elizabeth died unmarried; Katherine married Jonathan Welles, of Glastonbury. Mary, the widow of Capt. Rosewell Saltonstall, married Rev. Thomas Clap, of Windham, Conn., afterwards President of Yale College. (See as to the Saltonstalls, New Eng. Hist. and Gen. Reg., Vol. 7, p. 248; Vol. 11, p. 261; Vol. 13, p. 305; Vol. 25, p. 79. History of New London, Conn., by F. M. Caulkins, pp. 196, 376, 382, 384.)

Rosewell Saltonstall, Jr., was the last of the name to reside on the Saltonstall farm. He died in Branford. His remains were interred in the Branford Cemetery. On the stone over his grave is this inscription: "Here lieth the body of Rosewell Saltonstall, Esq., son of Rosewell Saltonstall, Esq., and grandson of Gov. Saltonstall. He received a liberal education at Yale College, where he graduated A. D., 1751. He was well acquainted with History. He was charitable and benevolent to the indigent and distressed. Solitude being his choice, he secluded himself from society, and spent his life in retirement upon the Family Estate in Branford, where he died January 24th, 1788, aged 56."

Rosewell or Roswell Saltonstall, Jr., conveyed to John Heminway twenty acres of the farm, which were conveyed by John Heminway to Jared Bradley by deed dated May 24th, 1776, recorded in the Branford Land Records in Book 10, page 153, June 4th, 1778. Roswell Saltonstall conveyed to Jared Bradley sixty acres, at the northeasterly part of the farm, extending to the Furnace pond (so called), by deed dated October 11th, 1786, recorded in Branford Land Records in Book 10, page 523, October 11th, 1786. Fifty acres of the farm were conveyed by the Conservator of the person and estate of Roswell Saltonstall to Jared Bradley by deed dated May 1st, 1788, recorded in Branford Land Records in Book 11, page 367, May 1st, 1788.

After the death of Roswell Saltonstall the rest of the farm (say, 210 acres) was sold by the administrator of the estate, under the order of the Probate Court of Guilford, and the same finally conveyed by Elias Shipman to Jared Bradley by deed dated September 7th, 1789, recorded in Branford Land Records in Book 11, page 403, November 1st, 1789. This sale included the ancient Saltonstall residence and the barn on the farm.

Jared Bradley resided in the Saltonstall mansion, after his purchase of it, until his death. His will bears date April 27th, 1832, and was recorded in Guilford Probate Records in Book 24, page 489, July 8th, 1833. The report of the distribution of his estate was recorded in said records in Book 20, page 131, June 2nd, 1834. It shows how the farm was divided after his death, and the disposition made of a pew in the "Presbyterian Meeting House in East Haven," where the testator attended services on the Sabbath.

The Saltonstall residence was visited by the writer in the summer of 1896. It had lost its ancient magnificence. Its large hall and rooms, and curious cupboard, are interesting reminders of the past. The antique furniture and tapestries, which adorned the hall and rooms at the death of Jared Bradley, were removed many years ago.

The Saltonstall Mansion was burnt down in 1909. There is a photograph of the Mansion to be seen at the N. H. Colony Historical Society rooms.—(J. M. A., 1915.)

According to East Haven Records, she m. March 3rd, 1833, Willard Mallory, of East Haven. According to another authority his name was James Willard Mallory. They had two sons and two daughters.

Elizabeth Mallory acquired title through her father to the land and buildings, now owned by Wm. H. Hosley, on the s. s. of the Main road (which passes the East Haven Green to Stony River), extending from land of John Ives Bradley, on the west, to said river, and from said road south to land of Edwin S. Bradley. She conveyed it to Mr. Hosley by deed, dated May 14th, 1885, recorded in East Haven Land Records May 18th, 1885 (Vol. 23, p. 590). Part of the land was at one time owned by Andrew Davidson, and part of it was conveyed directly to his son, J. B. Davidson, who owned the entire farm at his death.
